THE STATUS QUO

Most of us live in our personal comfort zones and, frequently, one of the pieces of furniture in that zone is a reluctance to challenge the status quo. (Some people refer to it as not rocking the boat.)

If the status quo had not been challenged, the United States would still be tied to England.

If the status quo had not been challenged, women would still be unable to vote.

If the status quo had not been challenged, African Americans would still be disallowed their human rights.

If the status quo had not been challenged, we would still be listening to baseball games on the radio rather than seeing them in High Definition, or even 3-D, on a 60-inch flat screen television.

Frequently, the status quo must be pushed into a corner before we can open a clear route for something better to happen.

Many, many years ago, I enrolled in a graduate business economics class. My heart dropped to somewhere in the vicinity of my stomach when I walked into the classroom that first night and realized I was the only female student. It was impossible to drop out; I simply refused to surrender and have all those guys revel in my intimidation.

Very seldom did a class period pass without jokes and jibes but, at the end of the semester, they presented me with a huge bouquet of flowers for sticking it out. I learned something from that class that had nothing to do with Ruidoso “snuck” in a change in 2010 when the Ruidoso Futurity purse was $500,000 and the Derby was $569,143.

The same thing happened with the Rainbow Futurity ($625,000) and the Rainbow Derby ($873,441). The plan stayed the same for the 2011 Rainbow, which will have run by the time you read this. The Derby is a few dollars short of $900,000 with the Futurity scheduled at $700,000.

being the lone female among 40-or-so males. It was something the professor said one night, while discussing the competitive business arena.

He said, “The only way for a business to survive is to either come up with a new product or to improve the product you already have.” It made sense to me, even at 20 years old. In other words, prod yourself to muster up enough courage and enough confidence to challenge the status quo. Why do you think super progressive, influential, successful individuals are referred to as “movers and shakers?”

An entirely new group of mega-successful business people has emerged under the label of “Millennial Entrepreneurs.” It refers to babies born between 1970 and the dawn of the new millennium who, at the age of 25 or 30, have amassed huge fortunes through the development of projects such as Facebook, Twitter, and new public relations/marketing approaches. We have dozens of young entertainers, some of whom haven’t yet moved beyond their teenage years. By the time they hit 20 or 25, they’ll be so rich that they’ll have problems deciding what to do with their money.

These “baby” business folks are so lucky in so many ways. They’re all making money by doing something they love with unbridled passion. They live it, breathe it and adore whatever it is, not because they must do it but because they want to do it. They’ve also learned what not to do with fame and fortune. They've watched one or two generations in front of them and have mentally catalogued the things not to do with their financial success and independence.

No drugs. Don't sniff, inhale or swallow anything but clean air and organic food. Don't drive around in a drunken stupor. Actually, don't be in a drunken stupor, period. And, according to these kid-publicists, agencies and agents, always make yourself accessible to the public. Be people-friendly. And never lose your bold confidence for challenging the status quo.

There is one status quo after another in racing. Many in the Quarter Horse world became convinced a very long time ago that we would never be as "good" as the Thoroughbreds. That was just a fact of life....a status quo.

If the status quo hadn't been challenged, we'd still be unable to register a Quarter Horse that is a bit too liberally sprinkled with white.

If we hadn't challenged the status quo, there's a good chance racing would still be a stepchild with the Association.

We even have a form of status quo in the use of illegal meds; hating the situation but simultaneously shrugging our shoulders and offering some lame comment such as, "Well, everyone does it." Actually, everyone does not do it.

We have a huge status quo in the racing industry overall. About the only challenge issued has been the birth of racinos, a fancy way of saying slots were added to some tracks. But even that doesn't truly challenge racing's status quo, which says we've always done things the way we do them right now and there's really no way (and frequently no desire) to change.

There has, however, been one challenge and, when you think about it, it's quite significant. We've said for decades that we need more money for older horses. We've even mentioned the utterly revolutionary idea of having major derbies worth more than their accompanying futurities.

Most of the talk fizzled because, we said, owners want to recoup their monetary investment as quickly as possible. They want those horses on the racetrack as two year olds, running for the largest purses available. By contrast, we said, most of those same owners have no interest in waiting until their horses are three, or even older, before they begin making bank deposits.

Maybe we were, at least, a little bit wrong.

Ruidoso "snuck" in a change in 2010 when the Ruidoso Futurity purse was $500,000 and the Derby was $569,143. The same thing happened with the Rainbow Futurity ($625,000) and the Rainbow Derby ($873,441).

The plan stayed the same for the 2011 Rainbow, which will have run by the time you read this. The Derby was a few dollars short of $900,000 with the Futurity scheduled at $700,000.

True, it's not an all-out assault on the status quo of money disparity between futurities and derbies but it's a strong beginning. Not only that, but the smaller Futurity purses haven't discouraged owners from ponying up with nomination payments.

There isn't a status quo out there that can't be challenged and there are very few (if any) that, over time, shouldn't be challenged.

It's so easy to cuddle up in our comfort zones of familiarity. Why not? If something is working okay, then why go through unsettling turmoil to change it?

The answer is because of what that long-ago professor said to me in that roomful of guys: the only way for a business to survive is to create a new product or to improve on an already existing one.

Racing doesn't need a new product but it does need to engage in challenges to the status quo. Really. Truly. And positively. ●

JUST HOW FAST IS YOUR HORSE?

The $5 million BANK OF AMERICA® RACING CHALLENGE is the world's premiere program for all racing American Quarter Horses. Regional qualifiers meet each fall in the $1.1 million Racing Challenge Championships.

The BONUS CHALLENGE PRESENTED BY MARKEL offers dozens of additional races each year, open only to horses enrolled in the Racing Challenge. Total added money last year was nearly $400,000.

The BANK OF AMERICA MAIDEN CHALLENGE is open to Challenge-enrolled horses still seeking their first win. And yes, the Challenge adds money to these purses, too.

Whether your horse is a $5,000 claimer, a world champion or anything in between, there's a Racing Challenge program that's a perfect fit.

Lifetime enrollment costs just $300 for a weanling and $600 for a yearling, and your horse will be eligible to run in any Racing Challenge, Bonus Challenge or Maiden Challenge race. That's a bargain you can't pass up. Call the Challenge hotline at (877) 222-7223 or visit www.aqharacing.com.

Speedhorse Paint & Appaloosa Derby-G1 RIO ROJO JESSIE

By Diane M. Ciarloni

Some people just fall into the Paint racing industry by accident while others, such as Don Kelly of Louisiana, become involved through conscious design.

An attorney and a member of the Louisiana senate for 20-years, Kelly purchased his first two racehorses several years ago from his friend Lee Watson in Colorado. They were Paints, which is what Kelly wanted.

Kelly's horse population grew until he had 18 mares. "That was too many," he said. "There are no commercially-bred horses out there that will bring a good price if they're not out of quality mares. I cut back to what I believe are six, well-bred mares."

Call Me Silking, a 1997 overo mare, gave Kelly Rio Rojo Jess, a full brother to Rio Rojo Jessie, in 2004. Eddie Willis, who trains for Kelly, bought the gelding and ran out $152,303 before he sold him. He won the G2 Colors of Houston Futurity and the RG1 Graham Paint Futurity.

Kelly watched what happened and decided to take Call Me Silking back to Feature Mr Jess for her 2008 baby. It was a filly; Kelly named her Rio Rojo Jessie and double-registered her as a Paint and as a Quarter Horse. That was the last year both associations allowed two bangs for your buck.

Rio Rojo Jessie went to Willis and, once again, Kelly watched.

Kelly and Willis both snapped to attention when the filly began working. She was good and, barring anything unfortunate, she would equal her full brother's track success. She won her trial for the RG1 Oklahoma Futurity on March 5, returning on March 27 to win the finals by a neck for more than $30,000.

Rio Rojo Jessie remained at Remington, where she auditioned for the Grade 1 Graham Paint and Appaloosa Futurity, winning her trial by one-length. It was a crushing blow to her connections when she won the finals but was disqualified to ninth. If that hadn't happened, the filly's earnings column would reflect far more than the $128,939 she now holds.

The filly's final freshman start was July 24, when she won the G1 Speedhorse Paint & Appaloosa Futurity. It was time for a well-deserved rest.

Rio Rojo Jessie returned to Remington on March 4 for the G1 Graham Derby trials, winning her heat and finishing second in the finals. She and regular jockey Matt Casebolt packed up and made the short move to Fair Meadows, where they hoped to walk away with their second Speedhorse buckle and trophy.

Kelly made the trip from Louisiana to see if the filly could do what her brother couldn't. She did.

Rio Rojo Jessie literally flew out of the eight-hole. She was on the lead with Casebolt hanging on. She forged ahead by 1/2-length and was holding steady. That's when Flash Of Silk, who came from the six, made a determined move for the $18,848 check. Rio Rojo Jessie never wavered, meeting the challenge even though her lead dropped to a nose at the wire.

"The competition was very keen," said Kelly. "It was an outstanding field with some tough horses. Jessie has one more out, the Lorelei Derby, as a Paint. After that, I'll run her as a Quarter Horse in the Dash For Cash. Then she's finished and I'll be watching her babies."

Rio Rojo Jessie, like her brother, has received Champion titles and there may be more coming in 2011. In the meantime, the filly's career record is 8-1-0 from 10. Her only off-board performance came through disqualification from first to ninth.

The name Linda Fox is cropping up more and more frequently in the world of Paint horses as an outstanding breeder.

"Steve (Wright) bought several horses from Linda and we decided to partner on some of them," said trainer and co-owner Dee Keener. "Sw Eye Candy was one of them. I liked the filly but I'll admit I had a concern or two about her. The most serious was that she looked too fine-boned to hold up."

The filly may look fragile but those fine bones are doing their jobs. Including the Speedhorse Paint & Appaloosa Futurity finals on July 23, the two year old has logged eight races. She's won twice and picked up another $40,204 from the Speedhorse for a career total of $57,384.

"She qualified for three other races," said Keener, "but couldn't seem to come back in time for the finals. (RG1 Oklahoma Horsemen's, RG1 Oklahoma Paint and the Victoria Ennis).

"We knew she could run from the first time we worked her. It was just a matter of everyone figuring out what we needed to do and when we needed to do it. She was all over the track in the Oklahoma Futurity, so we had to work on getting her to straighten out.

"She won her Speedhorse trial by a nose and we were just hoping she could recuperate in time. To tell you the truth, I didn't think there was anyone who could beat Captain Bucko in that race."

But there was. It was Sw Eye Candy.

The filly and regular rider Matt Casebolt walked into the six-hole. Compared to her previous races, she looked as if she was tanked up on jet fuel when she left the gates on the lead. Captain Bucko started from the rail and ran after the invisible target on Eye Candy's back.

The colt couldn't intimidate the filly, who refused to give him the time of day. She widened to 3/4-length at the wire, with stablemate Rooster Tail coming up second.

"I like Paints," said Keener. "I have room for 30-horses in my barn and that's what I have; divided about half-and-half between Quarter Horses and Paints."

Ms Painted Eyeopener, the 1998 dam, is owned by Wright. She has five foals with four starters. In addition to Sw Eye Candy, the mare has produced stakes finalist Sm Country Bandit with $53,000 and a Champion title.

Finishing second was Rooster Tail (Awesome Chrome-Ja Little Corona) owned by Cowboys and Indians, trained by Dee Keener, ridden by G.R. Carter. In third was Captain Bucko (Cartel Success-Joyball) owned by Racinrms, trained by Luis Villafranco, ridden by Adalberto Candanosa.

Remaining were Forever Chrome (Awesome Chrome-Treasures Forever), Brief Encounter (Country Quick Dash-Judy Janise), Flashtechicks (Sf Royal Quick Flash-Game Chicken), Two Timin Trixie (Dos Poruno-Domestic Disturbance), Quick Caydee (Country Quick Dash-Audacious), Trumpty (Country Quick Dash-Miss Super Dee), Bp Cartels Paint (Cartel Success-Baileys And Sunsets).

Speedhorse Gold and Silver Cup Futurity-G2 FIND ME A HERO

By Diane M. Ciarloni

J. Baxter Brinkmann's extensive horse operation in Frisco, Texas, has been in business since the early 1980's but has just recently begun building its industry profile through 275 head of horses bred, trained and sold for a variety disciplines. There are horses destined for cutting. There are other horses earmarked for halter. Some will become ranch horses. And still others are for racing.

Brinkmann's extremely sizeable acreage is five miles down the road from the former B.F. Phillips Ranch and, when the Phillips stock was dispersed, Brinkmann purchased several mares.

The years passed and the mares went unproven. The greatest success story on the track came from Lavish Me, a 1992 mare who finished second in the Speedhorse Sprint Futurity in 1994. She retired with $39,594 in earnings.

The Brinkmann picture began changing in 2007, when Dean Stermer climbed aboard as ranch manager. His special mission was to bring the horse program on-line. Stermer, in turn, brought in Greg Lofland as the on-premises trainer. He gathered other qualified people, and with his team in place, breeding decisions for the race mares were put into motion. The continued on page 30 clock began ticking for Brinkmann's return to the racing industry, working according to a laid-out program that would allow the Brinkmann team to produce results that would be a credit to racing.

"We bred 70 mares in 2008," said Sterner. "They were all embryo transfers and we ended up with 69 foals in 2009. We bred them to some good stallions but our problem was that they were unproven. That means the babies were worth very little in a sale ring. Twenty of those 69 were racehorses, so we made the decision to run them ourselves. We have 15 in training right now. I like to think of them as our secret weapons." Perhaps Sterner's favorite out of the 20 is the one he refers to as "the big, black colt." His name is Wicked Hero and he, too, is by Valiant Hero. Wicked Hero was in the Speedhorse trials but fell to his face leaving the gate. Fortunately, he walked off the track with no injuries.

Brinkmann horses seldom leave their home turf for anything other than competitions. They're born there, broke there and trained there. There's a track. Most of their feed is also grown there and two veterinarians attend to their physical needs. In other words, it's a self-contained facility that gives undivided attention to its objectives.

Mr. Brinkmann owns a share in Valiant

Hero," explained Sterner, "so that's where we decided to go with Lavish Me."

So far, this tale sounds as if Brinkmann is starting, or re-starting, from scratch. But you never know what to expect in the horse industry and, as it turns out, the ranch was actually building on its past.

Remember, Lavish Me was second in the Speedhorse Futurity in 1994. On July 9 her foal, a colt named Find Me A Hero, made his first career start in the trials for the G2 Speedhorse Gold and Silver Cup Futurity. The March 9 colt stumbled out of the 10-hole, finished second by a neck and qualified with the eighth fastest time of :17.745.

To say Find Me A Hero was green is a giant understatement.

"We want to be patient with our two year olds," said Lofland, who trained with Heath Taylor for four years, "because we want to have sound three year olds. One of our main goals is to come with more than just one good runner. We want it to be a continuing, quality program."

Lofland didn't begin training until he was 32, just six years ago, but he has a considerable background in racing. His father trained at the early bush tracks and Lofland was around a great deal of the time. He developed an eye for recognizing potential talent and he's currently putting it to outstanding use.

"Find Me A Hero was extremely studly when we were breaking him," said Sterner. "I feel like he's a phenomenal individual. He's built like a racehorse should be built, plus he's unbelievably good-looking. We spoke with a halter trainer about him and he said he could go into a halter class right now and win. You never know what will happen but we'd certainly like to get some halter points on him, and maybe try for a Supreme title."

"I'm a professional steer wrestler. We like to keep our horses collected and gathered, which was Find Me A Hero's problem in the Speedhorse trials when he stumbled away from the gate. We refined a few things after that and he was much, much better in the finals."

Find Me A Hero drew the one-hole for the July 23 Speedhorse finals at Fair Meadows.

"I was disappointed to have the inside," admitted Lofland, "but I felt much better after several people told me horses were winning from the rail. Our colt was still green but we felt he had an excellent chance."

Some folks may wonder why a March 14 two year old would still be green on July 23. It goes back to the patience that Lofland mentioned earlier.

"He didn't need time to mature physically," said the trainer, "but he did need time mentally. We didn't want to send him out there before he was ready. We didn't want to risk it."

With Ives back in the irons, Find Me A Hero made an alert break in the finals and began tackling the 350-yards in second. He was working against rivals who had three or four starts to his one, so he was battling against more experienced runners.

Hank Song left on the lead from the seven-hole, while Find Me A Hero dropped from second to third. The colt was still third when Haulin Candy Salt, who left from the five, pulled up even with Hank Song.

Hank Song held his place in what became a three-way duel but began losing ground in the final yards. Haulin Candy Salt seemed suspended in second, allowing Find Me A Hero to take advantage of Hank Song's fade. Find Me A Hero jumped to the front just before the wire, winning by a neck and handing over a $146,312 check to the Brinkmann team.

"He's paid into the Dash For Cash," said Lofland, "but we'd also like to take him to Zia. He's a mild-mannered colt, with really kind eyes. It's been a lot of hard work to get him to a graded stakes level in just his second start and it could never have happened without the entire ranch team."

Prior to Find Me A Hero, Lavish Me's leading money-earning offspring was the 2005 Feature My Jess with $15,000. The mare has 12 foals with eight starters. All have their ROMs with Find Me A Hero the first, and only, stakes winner.

In second was Haulin Candy Salt (Pyc Paint Your Wagon-Salt Lake Spitty) owned by Carl Pevehouse, trained by Clint Crawford, ridden by Tony Bennett. In third was Eyema Candy Tree (Oak Tree Special-Eyema Royal Candy) owned by Carl Pevehouse, trained by Clint Crawford, ridden by Stormy Smith.

Remaining were Hank Song (Jumpn Chic-Valuable Gal TB), Ease Bye (Azoom-Jess Easy), Rekles Chic (Jumpn Chic-La Gallas Reckless), Trick On The Run (Pyc Paint Your Wagon-Trickie Lassie), Paint Me Quickid (Pyc Paint Your Wagon-Rustys Quickid). CAPO DE CAPI

By Diane M. Ciarloni

Most of us have heard the adage that tells us, "All good things come to those who wait." If anyone doubts the veracity of those words, just take a close look at Capo De Capi.

Bred by P.K. Thomas/Kim Kubinski and owned by James Sills, the three-year-old bay colt never ran a really terrible race as a freshman but neither was he a headline-maker. He earned only $42,783 from five starts but the numbers never discouraged Sills. And trainer Eddie Willis never doubted the talent he felt he spotted when the colt walked into the Heritage Place sale ring.

"I wasn't even at the sale," said Sills. "I trust Eddie completely and he was the one who bought the colt. We always knew he could run, that he had the speed, but things just worked against him last year."

The most significant thing working against him was his shins. They sored up early and he could never shake the problem. He gave all he could in his five freshman starts but those shins kept him short of 100 percent.

Capo De Capi's final start last year was on Halloween at Will Rogers Downs in a futurity trial. He was sixth. Willis broke training for the colt and gave him more than four months of R and R. What happened during that hiatus was amazing.

The colt's first effort in 2011 was March 6 in trials for the Oklahoma Derby. He finished third, qualified, and was second in the finals. He looked good and there was no trouble from his shins. Willis tweaked and tuned on the colt and then sent him out on April Fool's Day in a 300-yard allowance.

He pushed off from the three-hole and won by 1 1/2-lengths. The colt was 100 percent and finding out just how much he enjoyed those trips to the winner's circle.

Capo De Capi won his trial, again from the three-hole, for the Grade 2, 400-yard Heritage Place Derby by 1/2-length, winning the finals 20-days later by a neck.

The colt who bowed out of his freshman season with only $42,000 was sending Sills to the bank with larger and larger deposits.

July 9 was marked in red on Capo De Capi's schedule, the trials for the 350-yard Speedhorse Gold and Silver Cup Derby at Fair Meadows. So far in 2011, the colt's most frequent rider was Jimmy Brooks, with father Roy Brooks earning the check in the Heritage Place. Jimmy qualified him for the Speedhorse and it was Jimmy who steadied him in the one-hole for the finals.

Trainer Greg Lofland won the Speedhorse Futurity from the one-hole with Find Me A Hero. It was obviously a good piece of real estate on this particular night because Capo De Capi did the same.

"He stumbled out of there," said Sills, "but Jimmy sat there and never bobbed. This colt is finally coming into his own and it's wonderful to watch him."

The stumble bothered neither Brooks nor Capo De Capi.

"He broke the ground out from under him," said Willis, "but Jimmy did exactly the right thing and just sat on him until he was back on top. The colt is in really good shape and just gets better with every race."

Brooks and Capo De Capi recovered immediately from the stumble and barreled into the lead before the other seven horses and their riders had time to even think about taking advantage of the misstep. Capo De Capi was steady and consistent throughout the entire 350-yards. He gained a one-length comfort zone in the early going and held it over the wire. He earned $38,393 for a career total of $244,647. He's won five-in-a-row, including two graded stakes. Earlier in the year he was second in the Oklahoma Derby. His lifetime record is 6-2-1 from 12 with a 108 speed index. He'll rest until the trials for the Texas Classic Derby at Lone Star.

Sills' name is a familiar one in stakes circles. He breeds approximately 50 percent of his runners and buys the other 50 percent. "Sure, it's especially satisfying to breed a winner," he said. "You know how it goes; you have a little mare who can run some. You fall in love with her and she has a home for the rest of her life. You can't let her just stand there. You gotta' do something with her, so you breed her."

That's the way a broodmare band grows and grows, one love story at a time. Sills and Willis waited and now all those good things are going their way.

Capo De Capi is the first foal out of the 2004 A Shot At Glory, bred by the Allred Brothers and owned by Bobby Cox. She has two foals from 2009 and one from 2010 who haven't started.

In second was I See Candy Paint (Pyc Paint Your Wagon-Eye On This Candy) owned by Carl Pevehouse, trained by Clint Crawford, ridden by Cody Smith. In third was Mt Rob This Corona (The Corona-Mt Dash Olene) owned by Makynzie Brown/Robbin Caldwell, trained by Tana Caldwell, ridden by David Brown.

Cherokee Nation Stakes SUMOKIN

By Julie Weathers,
Speedhorse Contributor

Sumokin and BV Eye Am First were touted to be the ones to beat in the Cherokee Nation Stakes at Fair Meadows on July 22. The duo had two wins each to their credit in their freshman campaigns. Sumokin had nailed her trial heat to the Black Gold Derby at Fair Meadows, but came up short in the finals on June 29. She also won her trial heat to the Easy Jet Stakes at Remington, but finished fifth in the finals. Perhaps that's what tipped the odds slightly in favor of BV Eye Am First in the Cherokee Nation, but the two-year-old gray filly Sumokin was there to give the competition a run for its money.

Kenny Muntz, who had been in the irons for Sumokin for the entire 2011 season, was up for the Cherokee Nation. Sumokin broke alertly in third, but BV Eye

Am First looked like he might pull off a perfect victory as he came out on top and held the lead nearly the entire distance. Win Rabbits Fly was also making a bid as he popped out in second and held on to his position throughout most of the 350-yard distance.

Sumokin, however, pushed out by a head at the wire to take the $13,088 paycheck for owners and breeders Corner K Quarter Horses. Veteran trainer Luis Villafranco met his charge in the winner's circle for the photo shoot.

Sumokin covered the 350-yards in :17.74 for an 88 speed index on a fast track against a ten mph head wind. The win brought her earnings to $89,752 with a 3-0-0 record from six.

Finishing second was BV Eye Am First (Mr Eye Opener-Lady Telia) owned by Hipolito Pina, trained by Jose Martinez-Rocha and ridden by Berkley Packer. In third was Win Rabbits Fly (Fly Jess Fly-Break The Market) owned by Phil Caddell, trained by Derrell Giddens and ridden by Pedro Martinez.

The remaining order of finish was Rowdy Suspect (Ausual Suspect-Miss Karely Rose), Small Town Famous (Country Chicks Man-Velveteena), Perks Prime Oak Tree (Oak Tree Special-Perks Prime Plus), Black Rosalita (Sweet First Down-Poneta), and Enough Rocket (Royal Quick Rocket-Effort Enough). Tulsa State Fair Mixed Stakes JUNGLEBELL

By Julie Weathers,
Speedhorse Contributor

Aside from the 10 mph headwinds and the heat, it was a perfect day for racing at Fair Meadows on July 22. The temperatures had dropped slightly from the 104 degree high by the time Junglebell stepped into the one-hole for the $15,000 Tulsa State Fair Mixed Stakes. Runaway Argus, with two wins to his credit in 2011, was favored to win, with Junglebell going off at 5:1 odds as the second most popular entry.

Regular rider Mario Chavez guided the three-year-old filly into the one-hole with her nemesis Runaway Argus coming from the seven-hole. Crazy Mother Trucker came out on top with Junglebell a close second. She took the lead in the early yards and maintained it throughout to finish a neck to the good in :17.677.

Bred and trained by Ray Enlow, she races for owner Jerrod Clark. Junglebell was unraced as a two-year-old and had five outs to her credit going into the Tulsa State Fair Mixed. Three of those starts ended in the winner's circle as a sophomore. Her latest win added $8,480 to her tally, bringing her career total to $30,984 with a 4-0-1 record from six.

Jack Rhoden Memorial Handicap SNIP N DALE

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff

Snip N Dale continues to cut a successful swath through the Pacific Northwest. The six-year-old gelding claimed his sixth stakes victory, winning the $15,500 Jack Rhoden Memorial Handicap on July 17 at Crooked River Roundup. Five of Snip N Dale's stakes triumphs are registered in the state of Oregon, including the past two versions of the Jack Rhoden Handicap.

The overwhelming favorite at the betting window, Snip N Dale broke from the two-gate running third but held the advantage at each remaining call of the 250-yard sprint. The gelding led L Bar D Snow Princes by a head going into the stretch, then widened the gap to reach the wire with a 1 1/2-length separation.

Prepped by trainer Scott Raley, Snip N Dale covered the 250-yards in 13.270 seconds, exactly matching his time from the 2010 Jack Rhoden, which set an NTR at that distance. It's one of five records the gelding holds. He's logged 22 wins in 31 outs, with only two races out of the top three.

Snip N Dale had jockey Nikeela Black aboard, and brought home a $7,500 prize for owner/breeder Gary Chumbley, increasing his lifetime bankroll to $183,114.

Chumbley also owns Bedaub Adash, the 1996 dam of Snip N Dale. Half of her eight starters from 10 foals have black type. While Snip N Dale is the most successful offspring, half-sister Two Dash To Fame, full-sister Lightnin Storm Cloud and half-brother Cupids Dash also hold at least one stakes win. Two Dash To Fame and Cupids Dash share the same sire, Dash Ta Fame.

L Bar D Snow Princes beat RR Red Rocket to the wire by a neck to finish second. Darrell and Linda Sanders own

L Bar D Snow Princes (This Snow Is Royal-Dash Home Deb), trained by Robert Beckner for jockey H. Herrera. RR Red Rocket (Southern Cartel-Lanty Bug) is owned and trained by Robert Raley, and had jockey Terrance Birdrattler aboard.

Hannibal Lector (Fastnfierce-Foxy Speeder), Iza All Dat N More (Juno Dat Cash-Ric O Chet Dundee), Eyes Okey (Okey Dokey Dale-

All Eyes On Madison) and Count Alleia (Count Corona-Dixie Alleia) rounded out the order of finish.

Manitoba Speed Horse Futurity EYE FLY BYE

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff

Miss Social Eyes "kids" did their mama proud during the weekend of July 22 and 23 at Assiniboia Downs.

Eye Fly Bye, the latest starter out of the 2000 mare, charged to victory in the $17,302 Manitoba Open Futurity on July 23. The win came less than 24 hours after Okey Dokey Eyes, Eye Fly Bye's half-sister and last season's Manitoba Open Futurity winner, claimed first place in the Manitoba Open Derby.

Eye Fly Bye joined his sibling in black type after mounting a successful rally midway through the 350-yard competition. The Ardell Sayler trainee broke out emerging from the four-gate and was running at the rear of the four-horse field at first call. Jockey Tim Moccasin helped Eye Fly Bye make up the deficit. By the time leader ZZ Dynasty entered the stretch, Eye Fly Bye had moved to second, just 1/2-length shy of the front. Not bad considering the sorrel gelding trailed by approximately 4 1/2-lengths earlier in the 350-yards.

Moccasin helped Eye Fly Bye continue his comeback during the stretch, as he overtook ZZ Dynasty to dash across the finish line sporting a 1/2-length separation. The gelding completed the stakes-winning trip in 18.480 seconds, registering an 81 speed index and hauling in a $9,516 payday for owner/breeder Dean Lemburg. Eye Fly Bye's total bankroll now stands at $15,706, and he holds two wins in five outs. Eye Fly Bye also has two second-place finishes thus far, with one of those runner-ups in May's South Dakota Bred Futurity.

Lemburg also owns Miss Social Eyes, a stakes-placed mare who has three foals—all starters, with two stakes winners.

ZZ Dynasty (FDD Dynasty-Zip Zima) finished 2 1/2-lengths clear in second place for owner Tom Bennie. The filly is trained by Tanya Lindsay and had jockey Clint Magera up. Wicked Femme (First Wrangler-Streakin Anne) looked strong in the early going, faded but still hit the board in third. The filly is owned by Judith Charbonneau, trained by Stuart Belgarde and was ridden by Juan Crawford.

Snowbound Mesa (Snowbound TB-High Mesa Melody) completed the order of finish. BDB Addie Be Nimble and Beautys Dealing Ace scratched.

Manitoba Speed Horse Derby OKEY DOKEY EYES

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff

Eleven months ago, Okey Dokey Eyes notched the biggest win of her racing career when she finished first in the Manitoba Open Futurity. She returned to Assiniboia to enjoy another breakthrough effort, going wire-to-wire on July 22 in the $16,964 Manitoba Speed Horse Derby.

The victory, Okey Dokey Eyes' fifth in 12 starts and her second in stakes company, kicked off a big weekend at the Canadian track for owner/breeder Dean Lemburg. The next day, July 23, Eye Fly Bye—Okey Dokey Eyes' half-brother and stablemate—won the 2011 Manitoba Futurity.

Following her stakes win at Assiniboia last August, Okey Dokey Eyes was a finalist in two other stakes—the Yellowstone Downs Futurity and the Canterbury Park Derby.

There was no stopping or catching the Ardell Sayler-trained filly on July 22.

Okey Dokey Eyes made a sharp break from the inside gate at the front of the five-horse field, jumping out to a two-length lead by first call. She still had a 1 1/2-length margin going into the stretch, which was just enough to hold off Elegant N Royal and reach the finish line first by a neck.

Tim Moccasin was aboard for the 400-yard trip, completed in 20.500 seconds for a 91 speed index—Okey Dokey Eyes' best since the 106 she scored during her winning run in the Manitoba Futurity. Lemburg collected an $8,821 prize, which boosted his filly's total bankroll to $27,281. He also owns Miss Social Eyes, the dam of Okey Dokey Eyes. A 2000 mare, Miss Social Eyes is stakes-placed and has foaled three offspring, all starters. Eye Fly Bye is one of her foals.

Elegant N Royal (Its Royal Time-Valentine Leader), the pre-race favorite, settled for second place. The gelding is owned by Jerry Olson, trained by Melissa Peach and had jockey Perry Winters aboard. Perks Southerncorona (Southern Corona-Little Western Swing) finished one length clear in third. Tom Bennie is the owner and Tanya Lindsay the trainer. Jockey Clint Magera was up.

Crazy Crown Royal (Special Crown Royal-Crazy Katie) and My Heart Soars (Furyofthewind-Zoomin Henry) completed the field.

Alberta Bred Derby

HOWDOYOUOLIKEMESOFAR

By Julie Weathers,
Speedhorse Contributor

Howdoyoulikemesofar is giving his owner, Danielle Wilson, even more reasons to say, "pretty darned well" lately. The three-year-old gray colt retired from his freshman season with a 4-0-1 record from eleven and $26,618 to his credit, which isn't bad. But it appears 2011 is going to be the year the Angelle Carter-bred runner comes into his own.

With no let-up in his schedule, Howdoyoulikemesofar transitioned into his sophomore campaign at the South Florida Quarter Horse Invitational at Hialeah Park on January 7, 2011. He finished fifth in the finals before heading west to Louisiana Downs for three out-of-the-money finishes.

It's a long haul to Lethbridge, but that was next on the colt's list. The northern climate seemed to agree with him as he tagged out in second in the AQHA Classic Challenge and then won decisively a month later on June 18, when he crossed the line 1 1/2-lengths to the good.

Grande Prairie was his new location when he once again stepped into the gates with Teagan Oulton, who guided him to his win at Lethbridge, in the irons. The colt was second at the break, but quickly went to the lead and finished a neck out in :19.83 to match the track record at 400-yards. He had nailed his trial heat to the $36,793 Alberta Bred Derby on July 16.

Just slightly over a week later, on July 24, he was called on for the finals. Oulton was once again aboard when the gray entered the eight-hole for trainer and breeder Angelle Carter. Howdoyoulikemesofar broke on top, but Zoom Zoomin came from the seven-hole with his eyes firmly fixed on the finish line also. The two stayed a head apart until the final yards, when Howdoyoulikemesofar opened up a 3/4-length lead. He covered the course in :19.770 for a 105 speed index and a new track record on a muddy track with 15 mph cross winds.

The $16,556 paycheck brings his earnings to $54,587 with a 7-1-1 record from 20.

Finishing second was Zoom Zoomin (Mezoomn-Buttermilk Pie) owned by Barry and Janice Sather, trained by Janice Sather and ridden by Oscar Peinado. In third was Poutnokey (Mezzomn-Poutniori) owned by Pete Schoeler, trained by William Leech and ridden by Nate Smith.

The remaining order of finish was Coins In My Pockets (Prime Talent-Coin In The Fountain), Maximus Prime (Coronas Prospect-Tagulator), Glittering Blue (Jess Louisiana Blue-Glittering Galore), First Jump Counts Eh (Jumpn-Dashingatac), and Mountain Mandate (Mountains Majesty-Just Torche).

Bonnett and Broden Futurity KR MONTANA VERSION

By Julie Weathers, Speedhorse Contributor

KR Montana Version was the track darling on July 24 when he entered the five-hole for the $23,519 Bonnet and Broden. With a 1-0-1 record from three, the two-year-old gelding had the most experience of the freshman field, but Czech was close behind with two starts and two wins to his credit. Nothing is guaranteed in racing, however, and especially with juveniles.

Even so, trainer and owner Alvin Crosschild's entry dug deep for a hard fought victory. KR Montana Version broke in second behind Czech who was coming from the seven spot. Teagan Oulton, who also won the Alberta Bred Derby, quickly put KR Montana Version in the lead, but it was by a short head and mere inches separated the first four horses. Czech, Feelin The Fever and CR Mystic Chic jockeyed for position, while KR Montana Version opened the gap in the final yards to finish 1/2-length out at the wire.

The Ed and Mary Kyler-bred runner clocked out in :15.470 for a 103 speed index on a muddy track with 15 mph cross winds, narrowly missing the track record of :15.440. The win added $10,584 to his bankroll, bringing his career total to $11,546 with a 2-0-1 record from four.

Finishing second was Czech (Corona Czech-Im Special Star) owned by Richard Settje, trained by Stan Webb and ridden by Brooke Mellish. In third was Feelin The Fever (Dash Ta Fame-Cash In This Lane) owned by Herds Racing, trained by Donald Cochrane and ridden by Craig Wonnacott.

The remaining order of finish was CR Mystic Chic (Oak Tree Special-Thischicsadashing), Ms Okay Okie (Okey Dokey Dale-Peggy's Special), CR Pro In Motion (Promised Class-Long Gone Jenna Jean), and LP Bandit (Mezoomn-Special Effort TB). CR Lil Bit Of Ivory was scratched.

Special Elan Dies

Norman, OK—Special Elan (Special Effort-Dash Again, Dash For Cash) was euthanized July 22 due to complications of old age. Foaled in 1987, Special Elan was a Graded stakes winner of over $100,000. He was the race sire of multiple stakes winners and the earners of over $1.7 million, and was also a leading barrel sire with nearly $250,000 in earners.

Errata

Norman, OK—The breeders of Little Bit Trashy, who appeared on page 20 of our July 15 issue after setting a new track record winning the $458,180 Grade 1 Lee Berwick Memorial Futurity at Delta Downs on July 3, are Wade and Kay Loup.

Heat Forces Prairie Meadows To Cancel Racing

Norman, OK—The heat wave across the Midwest forced Prairie Meadows to cancel races shortly after the first race was run on July 19 after jockeys voted not to ride. The riders said the 97-degree temperature and 111-degree heat index made conditions hazardous to the horses. The Iowa track's Thoroughbred meet runs through August 13, and the Quarter Horse meet is set to begin August 19 and to run through October 1.

High Temperatures Causing Hardship

Norman, OK—The recent 100 plus temperatures and drought conditions in many states across the Midwest have put additional stress on horse and cattle owners. Pasture for grazing has dried up and hay is hard to find. Oklahoma's Secretary of Agriculture is asking people with hay to register with the state so individuals can go to the directory on their website to locate hay. Many horse owners and ranchers have not been able to feed their animals, resulting in an increased number of horses and cattle at sales going for lower prices.

Retama Park Increases Purse

Norman, OK—Retama Park in Selma, Texas, has raised purses an average of $1,000 per race due to a significant increase in handle and attendance. Live handle is up 11% over 2008, the last time Retama conducted a live Quarter Horse meet, and export handle is up 70% compared to the same time.

Arapahoe Park Increases Purse

Norman, OK—with increases in attendance and wagering handle, Arapahoe Park in Aurora, Colorado, raised purses for the final three weeks of racing. Purses for all overnight races were increased by $1,500, and all trials were increased by $500.

Los Alamitos On Groupon

Norman, OK—A Night at the Races at Los Alamitos was the Deal of the Day on Groupon.com on July 30-31, with the package featuring a total value of $81.50 for the purchase of only $35. The deal included two Vessels Club passes, preferred parking, winner's circle photograph, $10 betting voucher, $10 food voucher, racing program, and two Los Alamitos logo shot glasses.

Canterbury Park Inducts Hall Of Fame Members

Norman, OK—Canterbury Park on August 6 inducted their 2011 Hall of Fame members. Included were Quarter Horse trainer Ed Ross Hardy, jockey Derek Bell, TB breeders Jeff and Deb Hilger, TB trainer Mac Robertson, and Minnesota-Bred Thoroughbred Sir Tricky.

Rock To Ride Concert At The Red Mile Race Track

Norman, OK—A Rock To Ride concert will be held Saturday, August 27 in Paddock Park at the Red Mile Race Track in Lexington, Kentucky, to raise funds and awareness for Horse Aid Live, a charitable fundraising organization that provides a way to give to one entity which then distributes annual grants to other recognized organizations that retrain, retire, rehabilitate, or shelter equines of all breeds throughout the U.S. Horse Aid Live is supported by the American Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals (ASPCA), American Horse Council, Kentucky Equine Research, the Unwanted Horse Coalition, and many other organizations.

Hendra Horse Deaths Reach 13 In Australia

Norman, OK—Thirteen horses have died of the Hendra virus since June in Queensland and Northern New South Wales in Australia. The latest death from the bat-borne virus suggests the horse may have had a previous Hendra infection and developed antibodies. The case reinforces the suspicion that the virus can lie dormant in horses and people, and then emerge long after the initial infection.

REPRODUCTIVE CHALLENGES

A look at the post-foaling mare and hormonal problems

James Bailey, DVM (reproductive specialist at Royal Vista Southwest, in Purcell, Oklahoma) says there are several categories of mares that have reproductive problems. "One area we look at is post-foaling mares that will be rebred. Some of the problems we experience in post-foaling mares are individuals that take a longer time than normal to shed the placenta. In our hands, we feel that if the mare has not shed her placenta within two to three hours, we need to begin assisting her medically, and later on, sometimes, with manipulation. Getting rid of the placenta is very important in working toward easy breeding post-foaling. This is a situation that should be monitored very closely post-foaling."

There have also been many studies that show a lot of post-foaling antibiotics are not helpful in achieving higher conception rates on foal heat or the next heat. "But we do feel it is very important to perhaps do a lavage of the uterus and examine the cervix digitally, to see that it has not been damaged during foaling. Also, these mares usually benefit greatly from a Caslicks because they do not have much vulvar tone and we can prevent aspiration of whatever is in the environment," says Bailey.

"Probably getting rid of the placenta, ascertaining whether damage has been done internally, and suturing the vulva rather quickly post-foaling (at least the next day), are very important. We have to evaluate all mares at foal heat. Many mares just take more time than nine to 12 days for the uterus to involute or shrink down, and for the mare to stop pooling fluids, and get into a better situation where it is possible for her to conceive and carry a foal. Most mares that are still pooling some fluid in the uterus at foal heat should be helped with treatment, as opposed to being bred at that time. Some mares may have a little lingering infection that needs to be cleared up, and some may just need oxytocin to help with uterine clearance."

"Usually, after the foal heat, we get into the next heat cycle and are looking at the same things. We are always monitoring during the heat cycle for accumulation of fluid, or any discharge through the cervix. Overall, generally the wet mares have a lower conception rate than the dry mares. They just take a little while, especially the older mares, to get back in shape for breeding. We usually think that, in terms of energy requirements, the mare will maintain herself first, and then produce milk to maintain the foal, and breeding comes last. In order to accomplish all of that, a person has to really look at providing an excellent program of nutrition for the mare," Bailey says. Reproduction is a luxury; the mare's body is programmed to take care of her own maintenance requirements first.

HORMONAL PROBLEMS

"In looking at the general health of the mare, it may sometimes be necessary to treat the Cushingoid mare. We look at many hormones on the mares that are problems. We can measure and treat problems in the thyroid, and many times we have to look for a cyclical problem—measuring hormones in various areas," says Bailey.

"We also run into mares that have lactational anestrus and do not cycle while they are nursing a foal. Many other mares, even though they may be under lights or in the natural breeding season, don't start cycling early. There are many therapies to try to assist these mares. Unfortunately, none of these therapies are uniformly successful," he explains.

"Often mares will respond to one form of treatment but don't respond to another. Some mares respond to follicle stimulating hormone and others may respond to sulpiride after estrogen priming. There are many regimes that different veterinarians have worked with. Some methods seem to give results, but it's very difficult to study any of these treatments. It's hard to set up a study model where you could have controls, because you don't know which mares are going to start cycling on their own, and which are cycling as a result of the therapy. Many times, hormonal or cyclical abnormalities are some of the most difficult things to treat."

Some mares at their first pregnancy diagnosis are found to have insufficient progesterone to maintain pregnancy. "It's fairly routine to do progesterone assays at a mare's first pregnancy examination to determine if she has adequate levels. If not, the mare can be supplemented (with a variety of methods of supplementation of progesterone), to safeguard the pregnancy," says Bailey. ■

CYSTS

An occasional mare may have ovarian cysts. "We see cysts that have no adverse effects on reproductive health. I know of one mare that has had a big cyst on her ovary for four years and it has never bothered her; she is very normal. Cystic ovaries in mares are not the same situation as cystic ovaries in cattle. We see mares who do not ovulate a follicle correctly because of hormonal abnormalities. Instead, they hemorrhage into the follicle. This is called an anovulatory hemorrhagic follicle. These follicles are not fertile and usually require a prostaglandin treatment several days in a row for them to go away and for the mare to cycle into heat again."

"We do occasionally see a tumor problem. Some of these ovarian tumors will certainly prevent a mare from cycling, but these are fairly rare. For instance, in 1,300 mares this past year, I only saw one with a tumor."

COLD CASH 123

By Diane M. Ciarloni

Legendary trainer Jack Brooks had a barn crammed with horses when he decided to retire. Horses and their owners always came first with Brooks, and he wanted to be certain he found excellent "homes" for everyone.

Brooks pulled out his phone and began calling trainer colleagues. One of them was Sleepy Gilbreath.

"He said, 'Sleepy, you just have to take some of these horses,'" recounted Gilbreath. "I told him I couldn't handle any more. 'Besides,' I said, 'I couldn't train for some of the people you train for.'"

A few days passed and Brooks called again. This time, he told Sleepy that he had someone he must take.

"He told me they were the best people in the world," continued Gilbreath. "And I tell you, I've never regretted taking them, not even one time. That lady loves her horses and it doesn't matter which breed."

And that's how Carolyn and Walt Bay of Michigan (T Bill Stables), along with Cold Cash 123, hooked up with Gilbreath.

Carolyn grew up with horses, with both her paternal and maternal grandfathers match racing on the Saginaw River. There's a picture of her at three on a horse and there's another one of her at five, sitting on a horse and watching her grandfather round up cattle. She studied animal science in school and, as far as horses are concerned, she's "ridden them, showed them, judged them and raced them." It's difficult to become any more involved.

Even with all her passion and interest, though, Carolyn and Walt didn't have their first graded stakes winner until November 28 of last year when their homebred Cold Cash 123 won the G1, Southwest Juvenile Championship. (He won the All American Juvenile two months earlier.) The Bays were thrilled and probably would have been content to stop right there. Cold Cash 123, however, had far bigger ideas.

After the Southwest, Gilbreath decided the bay gelding was ready for a rest, taking him out of action until May 8, 2011, when he finished ninth in a derby trial at Remington Park. His connections were hoping for a better performance in his first derby start but his chances fell to zero after being banged around. Instead of going after a lost cause, Jacky Martin wrapped up and saved the horse for another race.

Two months to the day passed before the gelding lined up on July 9 for the G1, Rainbow Derby trials. He and Roy Baldillez, who was riding Cold Cash 123 for the first time, moved into the three-hole. The gelding jumped into motion immediately but broke to the outside. He was running a heart-breaking ninth but he was also moving steadily toward the front. He finally overtook his rivals and finished the trip with a stunning 2 1/4-length margin, with the fastest qualifying time of :20.762 and a 106 speed index.

Baldillez was back on Cold Cash 123 for the July 23 Rainbow finals, with the gelding stepping into the nine-hole. Across the track, in the one-hole, was Texas Classic Futurity winner Bodacious Dash.

Bodacious Dash couldn't wait to display the talent that brought home the trophy from the Texas Classic. He was out of the gate under Ricky Ramirez and took an immediate lead. While this was happening, Cold Cash 123 was in sixth, then dropped to eighth.

The track was sloppy with a five mph head wind. No one has ever gotten after the gelding with a whip and Baldillez wasn't about to be the first. Instead, he flagged Cold Cash 123 a couple times and let him play things out on his own.

"The horse on the inside (Bodacious Dash) ran a huge race," said Gilbreath, "and out-footed him away from the gate. He had to run them down and catch them, which seems to be the way he prefers to do things. I'm telling you, this is a danged nice horse." There was a time, about a year ago, when Gilbreath didn't feel quite as confident about the horse. Back then, it was Jacky Martin who kept telling the veteran trainer that Cold Cash 123 was a runner.

The gelding closed the huge gap in the Rainbow finals, passing everyone until he blazed across the wire with a neck verdict. It wasn't a huge margin but it didn't change the numbers on the $449,762 paycheck. He's now earned $513,246 with a 5-1-0 record from nine.

And he's done it all for "these dinky people from up north." Those words came from Carolyn, who brings the term "humble" to a new height....or maybe it should be a new low. "This is a dream," she said, "and we're living it. I can't even explain how it feels."

"This is a laid back horse, with nothing fancy-prancy about him. Roy said he just let him run his race and, really, that's what Cold Cash always does. He's never hooked up with anyone. He's just always out there on his own."

"The really unbelievable part of the story is that we raised him; we own his dam and grandam."

The Bays purchased Very Striking from Doc and Barb Conley, who actually established the line's foundation. They later added To Hot To Hug to their stable. Still later, the Conleys gave them their foundation mare Lou Etta Deck. To Hot To Hug, when bred to Takin On The Cash produced Hot Cash 123. Also heavily involved in Paint racing in Michigan, Carolyn bred Hot Cash 123 to Judys Lineage, producing Champion Paint horse I Do One Two Three. Hot Cash 123's next breeding was to Oak Tree Special, with Cold Cash 123 born March 3, while it was still freezing in Michigan.

"We're definitely not 'big people' in the industry," remarked Carolyn, "but everyone treats us wonderfully."

"I like the way Roy (Baldillez) rides the horse. He's quiet and he's smart. He's also very attentive to the owners. Cold Cash looked fantastic after the race. The vet finished wrapping his legs and he started whinnying for food. Someone came with a flake of hay and I thought he was going to eat the boy along with the hay."

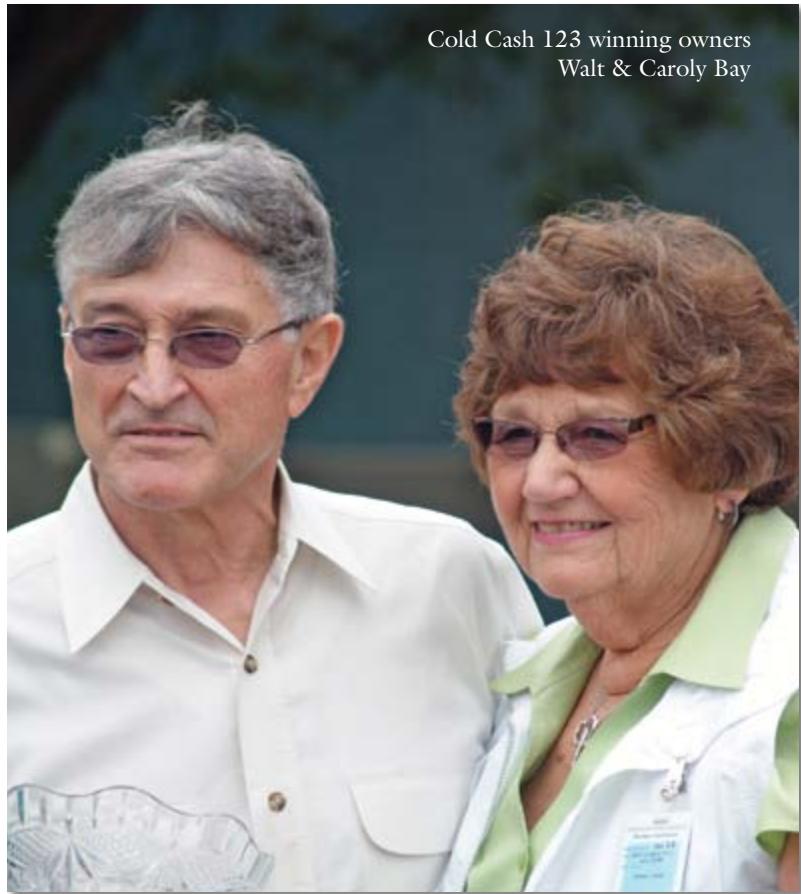

The All American Derby trials are next, followed by the Texas Classic at Lone Star.

Hot Cash 123 is a 2002 model with two Quarter Horse foals. Cold Cash 123 is her only starter to date. Her 2010 baby is Buster 123 by Corona For Me.

FEATURE MR BOJANGLES

Ruidoso Downs$700,000 • 400-yards*:19.60 • si 94

By Diane M. Ciarloni

It's nearly impossible to be anything but excited when a leading jockey such as G.R. Carter takes the time to sing the praises of your horse.

Carter rode Feature Mr Bojangles in his second career out on June 19, winning the 350-yard Four Corners Futurity at SunRay Park. Afterwards, Carter asked trainer/co-owner Roberto Sanchez (SM Cattle Co.) about the future plans he and Jaime Dominguez, Sanchez's partner, had for the colt. They told him Feature

Mr Bojangles, bred by Joyce Erickson in Texas, would ship to Arapahoe Park.

"I drove G.R. to the airport," recalled Dominguez. "He flew in on someone's private plane and, just before he boarded, he told me the colt should go to the Rainbow. He said he was plenty good enough to make it. He also told me he had four horses to ride in the trials and Feature Mr Bojangles would be the fifth. That was all we needed to hear."

"We felt confident we could go to Arapahoe and win some money with him but, after listening to G.R., we decided we needed to take the risk in the Rainbow."

True to his word, Carter qualified Feature Mr Bojangles to the Rainbow with the third fastest time of :19.481 on July 8, approximately three weeks after the Four Corners. It was the sorrel colt's first foray into the 400-yard arena.

Carter was named to ride five head in the trials. He qualified four.

It was a tough decision for the jockey but he felt a responsibility to ride fastest qualifier Mighty B Valiant in the finals. With $507,000 in earnings, Mighty B Valiant had already helped Carter make some substantial bank deposits, so he opted for the You and Me Partners-owned colt for the July 24 race. Jacky Martin took the mount on Feature Mr Bojangles, allowing Sanchez and Dominguez to move from one proven veteran to the other.

Martin and Feature Mr Bojangles walked into the three-hole and settled. Carter and Mighty B Valiant had the drop on the field, charging out on the lead along the inside rail.

Mighty B Valiant appeared resolute in his quest for the $350,000 winner's share and it seemed he was in excellent standing, flying toward the wire while Feature Mr Bojangles was drifting out in fourth.

As noted, it was veteran-for-veteran, with both riders knowing what to do to bring out the best efforts on their mounts.

Feature Mr Bojangles seemed to move forward in inch-like increments, finally putting a loop around Mighty B Valiant and lining out for the wire. He made it with 1/2-length to spare, over-throwing Mighty B Valiant who seemed weakened by the duel.

The Long Knife, breaking from the four-hole to become a challenger in the Rainbow, tried hard to lean on Feature Mr Bojangles for the win. The gelding made a strong push but still came up short.

"Our colt stumbled coming out of the gate," said Dominguez, "which is why he drifted. The four-horse, The Long Knife, had him by one-length at that point."

Feature Mr Bojangles has recorded three wins from four starts, with two of those in stakes, for $409,700 in earnings.

"He's more than returned the $50,000 I paid for him at the Ruidoso Sale," said Dominguez. "We've had a lot of offers to buy him since the Rainbow. We'll probably think about some of them but we never want to sell more than 50-percent."

"Jacky is one of those jockeys who'll always tell you he doesn't like to push a horse unless there's no other choice. For him, it doesn't matter if he wins by two-lengths or a whisker. He won the Four Corners by a neck and that was good enough. Jacky says he's out there to win and not to set a new track record. Roberto and I agree with him."

Feature Mr Bojangles entered the Rainbow finals with a 100 speed index. That remains his high score. Catch This Dash, his 1996 dam, is deceased. She earned her ROM and then produced eight foals with six starters, all with their ROMs. Feature Mr Bojangles is the only stakes winner.

In second was The Long Knife (Tac It Like A Man-Oodles Of Cash) owned by Stephen Denny, trained by Sleepy Gilbreath, ridden by Roy Baldillez. In third was Jess Sass Dash (First Down Dash-Jess Sass Me) owned by Desiree Princess Ranch, trained by Paul Jones, ridden by Cody Jensen.

Remaining were Big Daddy Cartel (Corona Cartel-Miss Racy Eyes), Mighty B Valiant (Valiant Hero-Mighty B Doll), Jess Cuervo (Corona Cartel-Jessica Ravin), Bovet (Corona Cartel-Jess Genuine), Ym Quick (Valiant Hero-Also A High), Texas Rockstar (Feature Mr Jess-Elegant Elaine).

Rainbow Juvenile Stakes

DENVER PASS

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff

Odds-makers and those placing wagers thought so highly of Denver Pass that the colt was the favorite at post time for the Rainbow Juvenile Stakes. By the time the $20,000 event concluded, Denver Pass had met those expectations—just barely.

After breaking out at the start of the 400-yard race, Denver Pass had to make a late surge and beat longshot Escort West to the wire by a head to claim his second win in three career outs and his first in stakes company.

Home-bred by owners Weetona Stanley and William Smith, Denver Pass has yet to finish worse than third in any of his starts. That one third-place finish came in the Rainbow Futurity trials. Though the colt didn't qualify for the finals, he did enter the Rainbow Juvenile as the 5-2 favorite.

Saddled by trainer G. Blane Wood, Denver Pass emerged from the four-gate running fourth. Despite breaking wide, the colt remained third both at first call and as he went into the stretch. The colt shifted into a strong surge and, as he did, then-leader Viva Arriba faded. There was plenty of running room for Denver Pass to reach the wire first by a head.

Jockey Jacky Martin was aboard for the stakes-winning trip, completed in 19.899 seconds for an 87 speed index.

Next up for Denver Pass is trials for the All American Futurity.

Denver Pass joins his dam, First Carolina, in black type. The 2004 mare claimed two stakes wins during a career that brought in more than $400,000 in prize money. Stanley and Smith also own and bred the mare, who has produced two starters out of three total offspring.

Escort West (Fly Jess Fly-Chain Of Fools) had a bumpy ride but still finished second. Dream Walkin Farms owns the gelding, trained by Luis Villafranco for jockey Gaspar Garcia. Lotta Love For Robyn (First Down Dash-Love Ya Miss Jess) took third by a nose. Wayne Barton is the owner and the John Bassett trainee had jockey Saul Ramirez Jr. in the irons.

The remaining order of finish was Viva Arriba (PYC Paint Your Wagon-Arriba Reba), Priceless Feature (Feature Mr Jess-Southern Price), Mighty Famous Vic (Mighty Invictus-Fame Us Katie), Stolis Rogue (Stoli-Hug A Rogue) and Cadillac Cartel (Corona Cartel-Jessie Rae). Feature Zoe and VGC Moon Walk scratched.

Canterbury Re-Opens

Canterbury Park officials, including President and CEO Randy Sampson, greeted fans at the front gate as they returned to the track after a 20-day suspension

Norman, OK—Canterbury Park re-opened live racing, simulcast and card casino operations July 21 after a 20-day suspension due to a budget impasse that led to a partial government shutdown. The stalemate ended July 20 and employees of the Minnesota Racing Commission returned to work. During the suspension, 1,000 employees of Canterbury Park were laid off without pay, not to mention the hardship to countless individuals with jobs in the racing, hospitality and equine industries as well as to the many horsemen ready to compete at the Shakopee track. It is estimated that Canterbury Park lost as much as $1 million in revenue each week.

Bob Morehouse Memorial/Cash Caravan Stakes LIEN ON ME

By John Moorehouse,
Speedhorse Staff

Lien On Me's connections enjoyed a surprising result in the $18,100 Bob Morehouse Memorial/Cash Caravan Stakes on July 24 at Canterbury Park. Facing 8-1 odds, the three-year-old gelding made a late move to win the event, posting his third victory in nine career outs and his first in stakes company. Lien On Me already was stakes-placed, finishing third in last year's Minnesota Futurity and second earlier this season in the Minnesota Stallion Breeders' Derby.

Lien On Me showed plenty of speed in the Morehouse/Cash Caravan, registering a career-best 96 speed index. The gelding broke a bit sluggish, fifth in the six-horse field out of the six-gate. Lien On Me continued on page 68

Me remained fifth at first call, but jockey Jennifer Schmidt soon made her move, urging the gelding into second place, which put him 1/2-length behind Six It Up as the betting favorite entered the stretch. Lien On Me had enough momentum left to surpass Six It Up, and cleared the finish line with a 1/2-length margin of victory.

Trainer Brent Clay saddled Lien On Me, who covered the 400-yards in 20.081 seconds and earned a $9,050 payday for owner Tom Pouliot. Ernesto Guerra Jr. bred both Lien On Me and his dam, Lenas Rare Lady. Pouliot also owns the 2003 mare, who posted three wins in 15 starts. Lien On Me is her only offspring.

Clay also trains Six It Up (Tres Seis-Biddies On A High), who finished second for owner Steven Pribyl. Jockey Thomas Wellington did the riding. Seis It Fast (Tres Seis-Chic N Traffic) placed third by a 1 1/2-length margin for owner/breeders Julie and Robert Petersen. The Edward Hardy trainee had jockey Doug Frink aboard.

The remaining order of finish was Lisa Packen (Pistol Packin Perry-My Big Time), Dangerous Guns (The Corona-Garters N Guns), Its a Jazzin Time (Jazzing Hi-My Big Time) and Pithia (PYC Paint Your Wagon-Miss Eyewear), who reached the wire fourth but was disqualified to last place for interference while leaving the starting gate.

Great Lakes Stakes

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff

Jess A Runner wasn't just another competitor in the Great Lakes Stakes. Not only did he win the $17,150 stakes on July 24 at Canterbury Park, he broke a seven-year-old track record at 440-yards, covering the distance in 21.162 seconds and registering a scorching 119 speed index. Capones Vault held the previous record, a 21.695-second run set on July 3, 2004.

Kenny Laymon trains Jess A Runner, and shook up the five-year-old gelding's regimen heading into the Great Lakes by swimming him on a regular basis. It apparently worked.

After breaking second out of the four-hole, Jess A Runner grabbed a one-length lead at first call. Jockey Doug Frink brought the gelding into the stretch enjoying a 1 1/2-length cushion. That, however, apparently wasn't enough for the gelding, who bolted away from the rest of the field to win by a commanding three-lengths.

Owned by JK Running Horses LLC, Jess A Runner now has seven wins in 21 career outs. His lifetime earnings increased to $142,374 with this $8,575 addition. That includes three victories in stakes company. Jess A Runner finished first in a pair of graded stakes at Prairie Meadows last season.

Paul Newmaster bred Jess A Runner out of the 1999 mare Katiebug Driver, whom he also owns and bred. Of the five starters produced by Katiebug Driver, two hold black type. Pretty Girl Kate, a half-sister to Jess A Runner, won the 2007 Kansas Bred Derby.

It was a very fast track for the Great Lakes, with four of the top five finishers posting a speed index above 100.

Streakin Rare (Fredricksburg-Regally Rare) took second place for owner/breeder Michael Teel. The Charley Hunt trainee had jockey Jennifer Schmidt aboard. Behavin Cartel (Southern Cartel-Love Miss Behavin) placed third. The filly is owned by Casey Foster, trained by Robert Johnson and jockey Clyde Smith drew the riding assignment.

Value The Man (Heza Fast Man-Sheesa Lil Val) and Hard To Ketch (Fast Debonair-Rockin Storm TB) completed the field.

Bitterroot Futurity-RG3

ILLTACMANHATTAN

By Julie Weathers,
Speedhorse Contributor

When you're 106 years old, victories are even sweeter, friendships are more precious and good horses are more appreciated.

"I can truthfully say we owe a lot of our success to our trainer, Monty Arossa," said Denny Weigt, who is half of the Weigt racing team in Jerome, Idaho. The other half is his partner and wife, Sandy.

"Monty has not only been a great trainer, but he's a good friend. Whenever we go to the track and there are some kids around he asks them, 'Have you ever seen someone 106 years old?' They always shake their heads and then he points at me. 'That old man over there is.' I'm not quite that old, I'm just 78, but it makes me laugh."

"We work as a team from start to finish. Monty looks at the catalogues and picks out horses he thinks will fit the program and then points them out to me and how much he thinks we should pay for them."

"That's the way it was with Illtacmanhattan. We both saw her in the Pacific Coast catalogue and liked her. We were looking for a Tac It Like a Man baby and she was gorgeous. Of course, sometimes you see a picture and like a horse and they aren't as impressive when you see them in person, but she had other things going for her also. Her female line is impeccable. I think most people would have bought her based on that alone."

"We got to the sale and she was even better than her pictures. There wasn't anything not to like about her. Some horses are overbalanced one way or the other, but on her, everything just fit. There was a lot of interest in her, but we got her bought for $20,000. Afterwards, people came by and asked if I got anything bought and I told them hip 292. Everyone had noticed her. Lin Melton said, 'Man did I ever like her.' Everyone did."

"A lot of people come up to us and tell us how lucky we are and I tell them we aren't lucky, we work hard. Monty breaks the colts to ride and then we put them on the chariots and drive them all winter. He's been a World Champion chariot racer twice, so he loves it anyway, but it gives us an edge because we have the babies going long before most other people do."

"Sandy convinced me to get rid of the mares five years ago because I was just getting to old to stay up with them all night when they were foaling. That was probably our best decision. We just buy babies now, but that doesn't mean we don't still work. It doesn't matter if we have a blizzard blowing or not. I go out and hook them up and off we go. While a lot of others are sitting around watching football, I'm out driving the colts and I think it shows when we go to the track in the spring. They're in better shape and they're more mature."

Illtacmanhattan is the perfect combination of breeding, conformation, conditioning and a winning team effort. The two-year-old bay filly won her first attempt with a handy two-length lead. That maiden race was her only non-stakes effort and she quickly settled into the program her connections set out for her. On April 30 she won her trial heat to the Beehive at Laurel Brown and came back on May 28 to win the finals with a 100 speed index.

Sandy Downs was next on her agenda, where she won her trial heat to the Sandy Downs Juvenile Challenge on June 11 and came back to win the finals by a head with a 101 speed index.

Les Bois was open once again and she traveled back to Idaho for the $103,453 Bitterroot Futurity RG3. Winning was becoming a habit with her and the new surface at Les Bois agreed with her. She took her trial heat by a length in :17.312 for a 110 speed index at 350-yards.

"We planned to space her races out a bit more," said Weigt, "but one of the races got pushed back and that jammed everything together. She didn't get the break we wanted, but she's a really tough filly. A lot of times she comes off the track not even breathing that hard, but I still don't like pushing babies. We watch her very closely and she always bounces right back, like she's ready to go again the next day."

"I was glad to see Les Bois reopen and they did an excellent job getting the track ready. Some people came in from California to resurface it. I heard they hauled in 500 loads of sand, mixed bark with it then started wetting it down. It made a fantastic surface. Illtacmanhattan loved it. It was like she was gliding across the top."

July 23 was a perfect racing day in Les Bois. The track was fast. There was a five mph tail wind and the fans lined up to see the Double Bar S Ranch-bred, undefeated filly try to win again in her toughest race to date.

Regular jockey Nikeela Black was aboard. She guided the filly into the three-hole and looked down the vee. Illtacmanhattan broke on top and was 1/2-lengths to the good at first call. Second favorite, SW Count On Me, made a run at her, but Illtacmanhattan extended her advantage. The gap narrowed to 3/4-length at the wire, where she stopped the clock at :17.291 for another 110 speed index.

The $41,381 share of the purse brings her winnings to $86,018 with a 7-0-0 record from seven.

"Illtacmanhattan is one of those fillies every trainer wants," said Monty Arrossa. "She has a big attitude and she wants to do things on her terms, but she's also very aggressive and loves to run. She's happiest when she's on the track and she always has a lot of go in her."

"I watched her sire run (Tac It Like A Man) and I liked him. That doesn't always translate when they go to stud, but I had high hopes for his babies and I wanted to get one for Denny (Weigt) if we could. We went to the sale and she came in on the second day. It was really hard sitting on our hands that first day. There were some good colts going through the ring, but I knew we had to be patient and try to get the filly. We weren't the only ones looking at her, though, and I was worried we wouldn't get her after letting some other good prospects go by while we waited. Patience paid off for us and we got her.

"Nikeela gets a lot of credit for how the filly runs. She always gallops her and rides her. They kind of have an understanding and just fit each other. I've been really blessed to have a good team. My family helps a lot. I have a great assistant trainer and my grooms are top notch. A trainer can't do much without a great team and I have one."

"Illtacmanhattan will go on to the Challenge at Los Al and the Pacific Coast Futurity and that's it. She'll go out for a well-deserved break."

"This has been a fun year," said Weigt. "She's the leading horse by races won in the nation. My birthday was on May 1 and I told Monty all I wanted was a win in the Beehive. He called me on April 30 after the trials and told me I had my birthday present. She won her trial heat and we were going on to the Beehive finals."

"Monty's crew takes such good care of all the horses. They take them out of the stalls morning and night to brush them and clean their stalls. You never find anything out of place at his stables. It's always spotless, as are the horses. It's hard to find a trainer who takes better care of a horse and works with them to get their best."

Monty told me he really wanted a Challenge buckle. In the Challenge races, the owner gets a buckle for winning the trial heat and then, in the finals, the owner gets a bronze trophy and the trainer and jockey get buckles. Monty got his buckle, now I'd like to see if he can get another one.

"I never keep horses after their two-year-old year, so as much fun as Illtacmanhattan is to own, she's for sale. We have some people looking at her now and waiting on x-rays. We'll take her to her next races and she'll move on to new owners and hopefully go on to make a nice broodmare."

Illtacmanhattan is out of 1999 model A Tiny Bit More (Strawfly Special-Tinys Rose Bud, Tinyes Gay) who had a 1-1-0 record from four and $6,182 in earnings. She has six foals of racing age with five performers. More Than You Know is her leading money earner with $133,169.

Finishing second was SW Count On Me (Count Corona-Raise A Rhoda) owned by Wright Brothers Ranches LLC, trained by Monty Arrossa and ridden by Tony Guymon. In third was Veyron (Ivory James-Leading Diva) owned by Travis and Wendy Saxton, trained by Bret Vickery and ridden by Paul Greene.

The remaining order of finish was Fly Chet Fly (Fly Jess Fly-Rarest Of Rare), Tac Da Chicks (Tac It Like A Man-Chicks On Fire), Micky Rush (Red Hot Rhythm-Ryans Rhythm), Moven Katielane (Maknmoves-Katie Lane Finder), Jess Fly Rey (Fly Jess Fly-Disco Del Rey), and Stolen Cartel (Corona For Me-Stolen Diamonds).

Bitterroot Derby

LIL BITTS A DASH

By Julie Weathers,
Speedhorse Contributor

Lil Bits A Dash has some history with the Bitterroot. The three-year-old gelding was third in the Bitterroot Futurity in 2010 when it ran at Pocatello Downs.

The Patterson Livestock-bred runner spent his two-year-old season in stakes company, with the exception of his first out in a maiden. By the end of 2010, he had three wins under his belt from eight attempts and $14,275 in the bank. His third-place finish in the Bitterroot was as close as he came to that elusive black type, but he'd already demonstrated he had some speed with two 104 speed index finishes and his connections looked forward to a promising sophomore campaign.

Lil Bits A Dash came off eight-months of down time to win his first out in 2011 decisively. He stepped onto the Pocatello Downs track for the Spring Classic Stakes on May 7 and finished 1 3/4-lengths out. Unfortunately, he failed to light the board in the finals, but the season was new and he still had a full dance card.

Trainer Jake Newbold hauled Lil Bits A Dash to Jerome, Idaho, for his next out where the gelding finished second with an impressive 103 speed index in his first attempt at 400-yards. The distance agreed with him and owners Cassady Whittaker and David Newbold gave the nod for the Bitterroot trials on July 9 at the newly reopened Les Bois.

Lil Bits A Dash won his trial heat with a 1 1/4-length gap in :19.615 for a blistering 107 speed index. It was small wonder the betting public sent him off the boards as the overwhelming favorite for the finals on July 23.

Jason Packer, who had been in the irons for the four previous starts, was once again on top for the $24,720 finals. He guided the favorite into the two-hole on a fast track. Lil Bits A Dash broke on top and never looked back. He took an early 1 1/2-length lead and maintained it throughout most of the 400 yards before kicking it into high gear. He was 1 3/4-lengths to the good when the clock stopped at :19.776 for another 104 speed index.

The $9,888 winner's share of the purse jumps his bankroll to $27,371 with a 6-2-1 record from 13. The Bitterroot Derby was his first stakes title.

Lil Bits A Dash is out of A Lil Bits (Society Road-Miss Hot Currant, Current Concept TB), who was born in 1999. She was unraced and has three foals of racing age, with two performers. Lil Bits A Dash is her leading money earner.

Finishing second was Mias Runnin (Strawflyin Buds-Mia Ta Fame) owned by Walter L. J. Finder, trained by Blaine Hadley and ridden by Just Vanderwoude. In third was This Chicks A Queen (Looking For Chicks-Its Good To Be Queen) owned by TR Racing Stable, trained by Garth Blattner and ridden by Jeffrey Jones.

The remaining order of finish was First Te Fame (Darkelly-Third Pass Ta Fame), Corona For Tony (Corona For Me-Alibi Fame), Dashin Corona (Corona Cartel-For The Better), JW Next To Last (Call Me Corona-Tayllores Shuffle), Special Truth (Special Leader-Nothin But The Truth), and JW Chicks Cutie (Looking For Chicks-Baby Got Cash). Much Authority was scratched.

Dolls Prodigy Stakes

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff

After finishing second by a nose in last year's running of the Dolls Prodigy Stakes, Chicka Wow Wow left nothing to chance this year. The five-year-old mare won the $15,000 competition on July 23 at Arapahoe Park in convincing fashion. After breaking from the inside starting position in fourth, Chicka Wow Wow led by at least a length at every remaining call and reached the wire with a one-length margin of victory.

Home-bred by owner Alfred Marez, Chicka Wow Wow posted her fifth win in 17 career outs. Two of those triumphs are in stakes company; she won the 2009 Lucille Rowe Derby for her first black type. Since then, Chicka Wow Wow made six consecutive starts without a win—including the entire 2010 campaign. She broke the losing streak when she won a 350-yard allowance by a neck and posting a career-best 103 speed index on July 11, just 12-days prior to the Dolls Prodigy.

There was no stopping Chicka Wow Wow in the Dolls Prodigy as she flew from the one-hole to a two-length lead at first call. The mare still had a one-length advantage going into the stretch, maintaining that distance over her closest rival as she crossed the finish line. Trained by Alejandro Chavez, Chicka Wow Wow covered the 400-yards in 19.671 seconds, good for a 97 speed index. Marez walked away with a $9,000 check, improving his mare's lifetime earnings to $58,700.

Marez also owns Dash For The Sixes, a lightly-raced 1996 mare. All six of her foals have made starts, and two of the six are stakes winners. Lady Six Meter, a half-sister to Chicka Wow Wow, won the 2004 Mile High Derby at Arapahoe.

Patriots Glory (Game Patriot-Daisy N Eye), the betting favorite at post time, finished second by a neck for owners Richard and Genevieve Herrman. Trainer Hipolito Michel-Valverde saddled the gelding for jockey Russell Vicchilli. Gold Status (Fredricksburg-Gold Highlights) settled for third. The filly is owned by Jean Chavers, trained by Howie Chavers Jr. and had jockey Vince Guerra aboard.

The remaining order of finish was Zoom To The Money (Shazoom-Miss Atm), Yeah Ima Leader (Special Leader-Yeah Im Flying), Bestfoot Forward (Ronas Ryon-Ive Been Lied To) and Slevin (Special Leader-Tanisha).

Red Cell Sandy Downs Distance Challenge YIN YOUR EYES

By John Moorehouse, Speedhorse Staff
If at first you don't succeed, try, try again. Yin Your Eyes lived up to that old saying on July 24, winning the $20,430 Red Cell Sandy Downs Distance Challenge after finishing second in the 2010 version.

Not only did the win put the four-year-old gelding into black type, it qualified him for the $125,000 Red Cell Distance Challenge Championship on October 29 at Los Alamitos.

Prepped by trainer/breeder Bill Hoburg, Yin Your Eyes left nothing to chance in his second run in the Sandy Downs Distance Challenge. The difference between then and now is that he won wire-to-wire in this year's 870-yard contest.

Jockey Luis Torres brought Yin Your Eyes out of the inside starting position and rode the rail post to a 1 1/2-length lead by first call. The gelding stayed in front by a full length heading into the stretch and crossed the finish line enjoying a 1/2-length margin of separation.

Yin Your Eyes covered the distance in 45.401 seconds, popping a 101 speed index. It was his second straight out in triple digits, with the 103 in the Sandy Downs Distance trials a career high.

Owner Rene Laatsch collected a $9,806 payday for his gelding's victory, pushing Yin Your Eyes' total bankroll to $41,082.

Hoburg and D. Canfield bred Yin Your Eyes and own the gelding's dam, Apollo Snowbound, a lightly-raced 2000 mare who has foaled two starters among three offspring. Yin Your Eyes is her first stakes winner.
